

How to Protect Your Birds Backyard Biosecurity

You are the best protection your birds have.

LOOK for Signs

REPORT
Sick Birds

PROTECT
Your Birds

Do you have backyard chickens or pet birds? If you do, you will want to learn how to prevent two deadly poultry diseases - bird flu and Newcastle's - as well learn the basic steps you can take to protect your birds.

The Atlantic County Livestock & Poultry 4-H Club is hosting this extensive outreach and education program called "Biosecurity for Birds" conducted by USDA-APHIS (Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service). The program reaches out to backyard poultry producers and pet bird owners to educate them about the signs of infectious poultry diseases, the need to practice biosecurity, and the importance of reporting sick or dead birds.

When: Saturday, April 23, 2016

Where: David C. Wood 4-H Center
Rte 50, South Egg Harbor

Time: 10 AM - 12 Noon

For more information, contact the 4-H Office at 609.625.0056 or dcole@njaes.rutgers.edu